

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

The Old Waltz.

Walking slowly down the street, grown old and gray and sad,
And somehow beyond the reach of things with power to make me glad,
I came across some children dancing gaily to an air
Played by an old hand-organ, and lo! the street grew fair.

Fair with lights and flowers and a stretch of polished floor,
A waltz which you and I were lightly, swiftly floating as of yore
While from the organ sounded the waltz we danced together
In that old time when hearts and feet were light as any feather.

Just the same, the perfume of the red rose at your breast;
Just the same, the warm touch of your shoulder 'gainst my pressed;
And just the same, the thrill there throbbing in me once again,
The old-time foolish longing, the old-time foolish pain.

And all the weary, dreary years, each with its blinding frost,
Quick faded into nothing, all their sad, their glad, their glad,
While in their stead a young man stood, still dreaming of the girl,
He held in his arms so long ago, in the sweet old waltz's whirl.

Old Waltz! Dear Waltz! played along our city ways,
Still can you take us gray-heads back to the joys of other days;
So deep I drink to your melody, that holds in tune the time
The old loves and old dreams of lost Youth's happy time!

—New York Tribune.

Mr. Harrison's Story.

"Thirteen original short stories," says the publisher, "will be found in the June number of Smart Set. One in particular, 'The Ending of the Play,' is so absorbing in its dramatic interest and so startling in its denouement that it will cause no slight discussion. Moreover, it introduces a new author to the public, Henry Sydney Harrison."

The publisher is slightly in error, for Mr. Harrison has already been most favorably introduced to the Richmond public through the medium of other magazines besides the "Smart Set." Possibly he has not hitherto shown such a strong and distinctive touch as that which renders "The Ending of the Play," remarkably forceful.

Mr. Harrison's work as a literary critic and author identifies him with Richmond and his many friends here feel a lively interest in his work and much gratification at his success.

At the Woman's Club.

Miss Maria Blair gave a delightful talk at the Woman's Club last afternoon on the "Works of George Frederick Watts," whose recent death has turned popular attention to the merit of his achievements in the world of art.

Miss Blair is especially fitted by her keen perceptions and broad art education to do full justice to such a subject and her lecture for that reason proved specially interesting.

A large number of guests and members were present. Doors and windows were thrown wide open and the fragrance of flowers was everywhere perceptible. Light refreshments were served and the social features of the afternoon were unusually charming.

Hebrew Memorial.

The Hebrew Memorial Association will hold its annual memorial services at 6 P. M. Wednesday at the Hebrew Cemetery.

Flowers may be sent to Miss Isoline Moses at No. 1010 Park Avenue for decoration purposes.

Mr. John F. Eggleston, of Richmond, introduced by Mr. Joseph Levy, will deliver the annual address. The Rev. Dr. E. N. Calisch will make the opening and closing prayer. The music will be directed by Professor Reinhardt, who will have with him Beth Abrahah Bell.

Company F and Company B will join the procession to the cemetery. There will be excellent car service from 4 to 8 on the Chestnut Hill line for all who wish to join in the memorial service, which the other Confederate organizations are invited to attend.

Duncan-Richardson.

Invitations have been issued for the wedding of Miss Ethelyn Richardson, daughter of former Mayor and Mrs. John Wesley Richardson, of Hampton, Va., to Mr. Andrew Wallace Duncan, son of Mr. William Graham Duncan, of Greenville, Kentucky, and secretary and treasurer of the Duncan coal mines at Luray, and of the Graham mines of Greenville, of which his father is president.

The wedding will be celebrated in Hampton Baptist Church, May 21st, at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon, the Rev. Dr. E. Pendleton Jones officiating.

Miss Annie Isabel Richardson will be maid of honor. Miss Emma Richardson, of Hampton; Miss Sallie Lee Coke, of Norfolk; Miss Blanche Wade, of Newport News; Miss Katie Belle Duncan, of Greenville, Ky.; Miss Sallie Bird Garrett and Miss Katherine Whitling, of Hampton, will be bridesmaids. The maid of honor and the bridesmaids will wear white point d'esprit over pink taffeta, and carry pink bouquets.

The bride will be given away by her father, and the wedding chorus from Lohengrin will be sung by the choir.

Mr. William Graham Duncan, Jr., of Purdue College, Indiana, will be best man, and the other attendants, Messrs. Hamilton Richardson, of Messrs. Hamilton, of Newport News, Richard Hewitt, of Louisville, Ky.; Samuel R. Addison and W. W. Richardson, brother of the bride.

Personal Mention.

Mr. and Mrs. George J. Seay have returned from their wedding trip, as their friends are pleased to note.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Eichelberger and family are occupying Greenwood cottage at Virginia Beach for several weeks.

At the May meeting of the Daughters of American Revolution, in Fredericksburg, Va., the following resolutions were adopted: That a committee be appointed to request the Mayor and the proper authorities to endorse the action of the Daughters of the American Revolution in their effort to have the remains of John Paul Jones interred in our National Cemetery, or some other spot in Fredericksburg. A committee was appointed to immediately take action in arousing interest.

The wedding of Miss Kate Crump, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Crump, of Norfolk, to Mr. Daniel P. Sigourney, of this city, took place Wednesday afternoon in the Baptist Church at Norfolk, the Rev. Dr. F. L. Felt, of Nashville, Tenn., officiating. The bride is a popular and accomplished young lady.

Mrs. Helen Cecil Stanford is visiting her mother, Mrs. William Cecil, in Roanoke, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter C. Warwick, Jr., who have been guests at "Campfield," Mr. Warwick's home near Richmond, will return to Norfolk this week.

Miss Luella Grant Dent, daughter of Colonel and Mrs. John Dent, and cousin of the Princess Cantacuzene of Russia, will be married to-day to Lieutenant Franklin T. Dent, of the Nineteenth Infantry, U. S. A., in Holy Name Cathedral, Chicago, Ill.

Mrs. J. N. Callingsworth and Miss Callingsworth are spending a short time at Mary Baldwin Seminary, Staunton.

The Norfolk Virginian-Pilot of Sunday says: Mr. and Mrs. W. Dorsey Pender gave a very attractive supper Friday evening at the Country Club complimentary to Miss Rebecca Gordon, of Richmond. The table was decorated in spring flowers and their guests were Miss Gordon, Miss Elizabeth Martin, Miss Nelly

THE COHEN COMPANY

The Greatest Embroidery Bargains in Our History

We were fortunate in being in a position to take this unusual lot of Embroideries. There is not a city the size of Richmond in this country that could get such a chance.

These Embroideries Will Average Twenty-Five Cents On the Dollar

From 1c to 50c a yard gives values that run the whole gamut from 5c to $2 a yard.

We will have plenty of all kinds for a short time, but such values will soon cause a scarcity in the most wanted ones.

NOTE—At this writing on Monday, the crowds are so great that many shoppers could not be waited on; for to-day we will be better prepared. It was a bigger thing than we, even, expected.

POEMS YOU OUGHT TO KNOW

Whatever your occupation may be, and however crowded your hours with affairs, do not fail to secure at least a few minutes every day for refreshment of your inner life with a bit of poetry.—Professor Charles Elliot Norton.

No. 496.

THE YELLOW VIOLET.

By WILLIAM CULLEN BRYANT.

Other selections from this writer, his portrait, autograph and biographical sketch, have already been printed in this series.

WHEN beechen buds begin to swell,
And woods the bluebird's warble know,
The yellow violet's modest bell
Peeps from the last year's leaves below.

Ere russet fields their green resume,
Sweet flower, I love, in forest bare,
To meet thee, when thy faint perfume
Alone is in the virgin air.

Of all her train, the hands of Spring
First plant thee in the watery mould,
And I have seen thee blossoming
Besides the snow-bank's edges cold.

Thy parent sun, who bade thee view
Pale skies, and chilling moisture slip,
Has bathed thee in his own bright hue,
And streaked with jet thy glowing lip.

Yet slight thy form, and low thy seat,
And earthward bent thy gentle eye,
Unapt the passing view to meet
When loftier flowers are flaunting high.

Oh, in the sunless April day,
Thy early smile has stayed my walk;
But 'midst the gorgeous blooms of May,
I passed thee on thy humble stalk.

So they, who climb to wealth, forget
The friends in darker fortunes tried.
I copied thee—but I regret
That I should ape the ways of pride.

And when again the genial hour
Awakes the painted tribes of light,
I'll not overlook the modest flower
That made the woods of April bright.

This series began in The Times-Dispatch Sunday, October 11, 1903. One is published each day.

Little, Mr. Cadwallader Collins, Mr. Edward Brockebrough and Mr. Goldsborough Sorrell.

Miss Gordon returned to Richmond Saturday, and Mrs. Gaston Myers, of North Carolina, arrived then to be the guests of her parents, Colonel and Mrs. John W. Gordon.

Mr. T. K. Sands and family expect to spend the summer in Ashland, Va.

Mr. Carroll Howell, of the Medical College of Virginia, has left for his home in Fredericksburg, Va.

Miss Nannie Travis, of New London, Va., is spending several weeks with friends in Richmond.

The marriage of Miss Estelle Randolph Hughes, daughter of the late Hugh Henry Hughes, of Lynchburg, Va., to Dr. Compton Kelly, of Baltimore, son of Dr. F. J. Kelly, of Summit Point, Va., will take place June 1st.

Miss Mary Forbes, of Virginia, who has been the guest of friends in Baltimore, will visit Atlantic City this summer.

Mr. David Hopkins Ralston, of the Union Theological Seminary, is visiting his home in Harrisonburg, Va., before going to West Virginia.

Mrs. Pendleton Boatwright has left for her home in Portsmouth, Va., after a visit to friends in Richmond.

Mrs. A. A. McCullough, of Norfolk, is expected in Richmond this week on a visit to friends.

Mrs. John N. Greene, of Norfolk, is expected in Richmond this week on a visit to friends.

The wedding of the Betty Washington Leves, daughter of the late John Leves, of American Revolution, in Fredericksburg, Va., the following resolutions were adopted: That a committee be appointed to request the Mayor and the proper authorities to endorse the action of the Daughters of the American Revolution in their effort to have the remains of John Paul Jones interred in our National Cemetery, or some other spot in Fredericksburg. A committee was appointed to immediately take action in arousing interest.

The wedding of Miss Kate Crump, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Crump, of Norfolk, to Mr. Daniel P. Sigourney, of this city, took place Wednesday afternoon in the Baptist Church at Norfolk, the Rev. Dr. F. L. Felt, of Nashville, Tenn., officiating. The bride is a popular and accomplished young lady.

Mrs. Helen Cecil Stanford is visiting her mother, Mrs. William Cecil, in Roanoke, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter C. Warwick, Jr., who have been guests at "Campfield," Mr. Warwick's home near Richmond, will return to Norfolk this week.

Miss Luella Grant Dent, daughter of Colonel and Mrs. John Dent, and cousin of the Princess Cantacuzene of Russia, will be married to-day to Lieutenant Franklin T. Dent, of the Nineteenth Infantry, U. S. A., in Holy Name Cathedral, Chicago, Ill.

Mrs. J. N. Callingsworth and Miss Callingsworth are spending a short time at Mary Baldwin Seminary, Staunton.

The Norfolk Virginian-Pilot of Sunday says: Mr. and Mrs. W. Dorsey Pender gave a very attractive supper Friday evening at the Country Club complimentary to Miss Rebecca Gordon, of Richmond. The table was decorated in spring flowers and their guests were Miss Gordon, Miss Elizabeth Martin, Miss Nelly pending a few days with Mrs. Lucy Meade in this city.

Mrs. Lawrence T. Atkinson has returned to her home in Norfolk, after a pleasant visit to friends in Richmond.

Mr. J. Lindsay Ferguson is with friends in Danville for a few days.

Miss Mary Buford expects to leave this week for Norfolk to visit Mrs. Junius Lynch, in Bute Street.

Mrs. Edward S. Baker and little son, Edward, have returned after a visit to relatives in Staunton.

Messrs. G. G. Minor and R. L. Gordon are the guests of the Messrs. Talbott, at "Midlothian," near Waynesboro.

Mr. A. C. Southall, of Accomac county, is visiting relatives in Richmond.

Mr. R. B. Pogram is spending a few days in Norfolk.

Mrs. R. A. Morrisette is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Morrisette, at their home in Rivermont, Lynchburg.

Miss Julia Tyler is the guest of Mrs. Robert M. Hughes, on Colonial Avenue, Norfolk.

Mr. L. D. Smith, of Rochester, N. Y., who is a student at the University College of Medicine, is spending a few days with his classmates, Mr. Thomas H. Kinney, in Lynchburg.

Mrs. John De Treville is visiting her mother, Mrs. Joseph Hunter, at Clifton Avenue and Eighth Street, Baltimore.

Dr. H. W. Bassett has returned to his home after a two weeks' stay at the Memorial Hospital, and expects to be able to see his friends soon.

Mrs. John E. Robinson, Jr., is at the Chalfonte, Atlantic City.

Mrs. John Welsh and daughter expect to leave this week to visit relatives in Ellenville, Va.

Mrs. J. D. Horsley and Miss Molly Early have returned to Lynchburg, after attending the entertainment given by the Colonial Dames and Society of the Cincinnati during the past week. Mrs. Allen Langhorne still remains in the city.

Miss Maud Pamplin, of Radford, is visiting friends and relatives in Richmond.

Miss Rosenbaum, of Richmond, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. C. M. Guggenheimer, on Washington Street, Lynchburg.

Mrs. John A. Gregory, of Lynchburg, is visiting friends in the city.

Mrs. Henry Moncure has returned to her home in Louisa, from a visit to her mother, Mrs. J. A. Moncure, in the city.

An important meeting of the board of managers of the Virginia Home for incurables is called for Wednesday afternoon at 6 o'clock, in the home of Mrs. Peyton R. Carrington, No. 715 West Grace Street.

Mrs. Harry Afielder and Mrs. Charlie O'Brien, of Baltimore, are visiting Mr. Robert Schaefer, No. 315 Harrison Street.

JUST ONE LANGUAGE.

Five Italians Are Arrested for Trespass—Interpreter Needed.

Antonio Senario, Giacomo Senario, Lorenzo Caspari, Corrado Giovanni and Antonio Giordano were arrested yesterday morning by the Chesapeake and Ohio detective for trespassing upon property of the railroad.

The men are confined in the Henrico county jail and will be given a hearing this morning. None of them speak English, French, German, Russian, Japanese, Greek or Latin, and without the aid of an interpreter they are at the mercy of most anyone—or rather, "most anyone" is at their mercy.

Within a few hours after being confined in the jail they had succeeded in attracting the attention of the entire imprisoned band, and every prisoner gathered around them to listen to their jabbering. In the afternoon an interpreter was found, and according to this person the five are respectable Italians.

A letter was written to New York, where friends are said to be, asking for money.

Johnson Has Counsel.

Negro Charged With Assault on Ruth Pinchbeck Employs Lawyer.

Upon the charge of committing criminal assault upon little Ruth Pinchbeck, Austin Johnson, a negro man, about thirty years of age, now confined in the Henrico county jail, will be given a hearing on the 22d before Justice of the Peace J. T. Lewis. The date for the trial was fixed yesterday morning.

Johnson has employed Mr. Edgar English to defend him. He will, it is said, attempt to prove an alibi, and he offers who have been working on the case assert that they will be able to meet this contention with facts sufficient to warrant a conviction. Johnson is a man of color and has been working on the case, and has, so it is confidently asserted, woven an almost complete chain of circumstantial evidence. To this is added the positive declaration of little Ruth Pinchbeck that Johnson is the man who committed the heinous crime.

FASHION HINTS.

LADIES' CHEMISSETTE SHIRT WAIST, In Double Breasted Effect.

No. 3154—The dressy touch which the chemisette gives to even the simplest toilette has placed it at once in the front rank of favorite styles. The smart waist here illustrated was developed of mercerized mullins with a chemisette of fine tucked and embroidered batiste. A single tuck which extends from the shoulder at each side, gives long lines to the back. Three tucks give a pleasing fullness over the bust. The fronts lap in double breasted effect.

The sleeves are the modified leg-of-mutton, gathered quite full into the armhole and tapering to less fullness at the lower edge where it joins the neat cuffs.

The pattern No. 3154 is cut in sizes 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 inches bust measure and includes a lining which may be omitted.

To take it in the medium size will require 3 yards of 36-inch material and 2 yards of lining together with 1/2 yard of white embroidery or other material for chemisette.

These patterns can be gotten at The Cohen Company for 10c—Adv.

TWO NOBLE LORDS LANGUISH IN JAIL

One Charged With Grand Larceny and the Other With Being Hotel Beat.

BOA-CONSTRUCTOR IN N. Y.

Boys Found Snake Asleep in Gutter and Slew It With Stones.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

NEW YORK, May 15.—The police stations of the city are being singularly honored of late. At present two different stations are sheltering members of the nobility. One of the alleged counts is being held for trial on the charge of being a hotel beat, while the other was captured red handed in the act of grand larceny. Evidently the early days of the month of May are not what might be called lucky for those of the European persuasion who are in this country in search of heiresses.

The count, who is held for a hotel beat, was putting up at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. He was charged with the crime of being a hotel beat, while the other was captured red handed in the act of grand larceny. Evidently the early days of the month of May are not what might be called lucky for those of the European persuasion who are in this country in search of heiresses.

The count, who is held for a hotel beat, was putting up at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. He was charged with the crime of being a hotel beat, while the other was captured red handed in the act of grand larceny. Evidently the early days of the month of May are not what might be called lucky for those of the European persuasion who are in this country in search of heiresses.

West End Avenue, by the God of chance, is one of the fashionable and exclusive residence streets in the city. It would then seem to follow that the children of that thoroughfare should be good boys and girls, and that they should have grown up as fair youngsters, as much as they had the advantage of careful training. But not so.

That is Major Egan's idea of the West End boys, who, by the way, have no children of their own, the boys and girls who constitute the West End Avenue "gangs," are about the worst ever to have the children of the family next door arrested for sitting on their own stoop and talking louder than the Major thought proper.

The Major's opinion of the boys has been expressed in his own words: "Without exception they are the worst boys in the world. They fill the streets like a lot of howling wolves, making life miserable for everyone forced to submit to the torture. I have never met such a lot of boisterous, inconsiderate boys, as I have in West End Avenue."

Major Egan's idea of the West End boys, who, by the way, have no children of their own, the boys and girls who constitute the West End Avenue "gangs," are about the worst ever to have the children of the family next door arrested for sitting on their own stoop and talking louder than the Major thought proper.

The Major's opinion of the boys has been expressed in his own words: "Without exception they are the worst boys in the world. They fill the streets like a lot of howling wolves, making life miserable for everyone forced to submit to the torture. I have never met such a lot of boisterous, inconsiderate boys, as I have in West End Avenue."

Major Egan's idea of the West End boys, who, by the way, have no children of their own, the boys and girls who constitute the West End Avenue "gangs," are about the worst ever to have the children of the family next door arrested for sitting on their own stoop and talking louder than the Major thought proper.

The Major's opinion of the boys has been expressed in his own words: "Without exception they are the worst boys in the world. They fill the streets like a lot of howling wolves, making life miserable for everyone forced to submit to the torture. I have never met such a lot of boisterous, inconsiderate boys, as I have in West End Avenue."

Major Egan's idea of the West End boys, who, by the way, have no children of their own, the boys and girls who constitute the West End Avenue "gangs," are about the worst ever to have the children of the family next door arrested for sitting on their own stoop and talking louder than the Major thought proper.

The Major's opinion of the boys has been expressed in his own words: "Without exception they are the worst boys in the world. They fill the streets like a lot of howling wolves, making life miserable for everyone forced to submit to the torture. I have never met such a lot of boisterous, inconsiderate boys, as I have in West End Avenue."

Major Egan's idea of the West End boys, who, by the way, have no children of their own, the boys and girls who constitute the West End Avenue "gangs," are about the worst ever to have the children of the family next door arrested for sitting on their own stoop and talking louder than the Major thought proper.

The Major's opinion of the boys has been expressed in his own words: "Without exception they are the worst boys in the world. They fill the streets like a lot of howling wolves, making life miserable for everyone forced to submit to the torture. I have never met such a lot of boisterous, inconsiderate boys, as I have in West End Avenue."

Major Egan's idea of the West End boys, who, by the way, have no children of their own, the boys and girls who constitute the West End Avenue "gangs," are about the worst ever to have the children of the family next door arrested for sitting on their own stoop and talking louder than the Major thought proper.

The Major's opinion of the boys has been expressed in his own words: "Without exception they are the worst boys in the world. They fill the streets like a lot of howling wolves, making life miserable for everyone forced to submit to the torture. I have never met such a lot of boisterous, inconsiderate boys, as I have in West End Avenue."

Major Egan's idea of the West End boys, who, by the way, have no children of their own, the boys and girls who constitute the West End Avenue "gangs," are about the worst ever to have the children of the family next door arrested for sitting on their own stoop and talking louder than the Major thought proper.

The Major's opinion of the boys has been expressed in his own words: "Without exception they are the worst boys in the world. They fill the streets like a lot of howling wolves, making life miserable for everyone forced to submit to the torture. I have never met such a lot of boisterous, inconsiderate boys, as I have in West End Avenue."

Major Egan's idea of the West End boys, who, by the way, have no children of their own, the boys and girls who constitute the West End Avenue "gangs," are about the worst ever to have the children of the family next door arrested for sitting on their own stoop and talking louder than the Major thought proper.

The Major's opinion of the boys has been expressed in his own words: "Without exception they are the worst boys in the world. They fill the streets like a lot of howling wolves, making life miserable for everyone forced to submit to the torture. I have never met such a lot of boisterous, inconsiderate boys, as I have in West End Avenue."

Major Egan's idea of the West End boys, who, by the way, have no children of their own, the boys and girls who constitute the West End Avenue "gangs," are about the worst ever to have the children of the family next door arrested for sitting on their own stoop and talking louder than the Major thought proper.

The Major's opinion of the boys has been expressed in his own words: "Without exception they are the worst boys in the world. They fill the streets like a lot of howling wolves, making life miserable for everyone forced to submit to the torture. I have never met such a lot of boisterous, inconsiderate boys, as I have in West End Avenue."

Major Egan's idea of the West End boys, who, by the way, have no children of their own, the boys and girls who constitute the West End Avenue "gangs," are about the worst ever to have the children of the family next door arrested for sitting on their own stoop and talking louder than the Major thought proper.

The Major's opinion of the boys has been expressed in his own words: "Without exception they are the worst boys in the world. They fill the streets like a lot of howling wolves, making life miserable for everyone forced to submit to the torture. I have never met such a lot of boisterous, inconsiderate boys, as I have in West End Avenue."

Major Egan's idea of the West End boys, who, by the way, have no children of their own, the boys and girls who constitute the West End Avenue "gangs," are about the worst ever to have the children of the family next door arrested for sitting on their own stoop and talking louder than the Major thought proper.

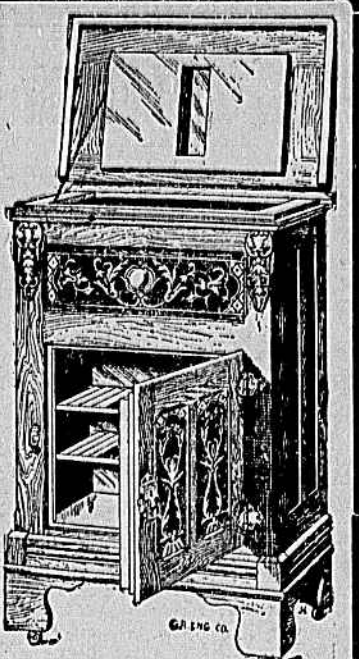

The Major's opinion of the boys has been expressed in his own words: "Without exception they are the worst boys in the world. They fill the streets like a lot of howling wolves, making life miserable for everyone forced to submit to the torture. I have never met such a lot of boisterous, inconsiderate boys, as I have in West End Avenue."

Major Egan's idea of the West End boys, who, by the way, have no children of their own, the boys and girls who constitute the West End Avenue "gangs," are about the worst ever to have the children of the family next door arrested for sitting on their own stoop and talking louder than the Major thought proper.

The Major's opinion of the boys has been expressed in his own words: "Without exception they are the worst boys in the world. They fill the streets like a lot of howling wolves, making life miserable for everyone forced to submit to the torture. I have never met such a lot of boisterous, inconsiderate boys, as I have in West End Avenue."

Major Egan's idea of the West End boys, who, by the way, have no children of their own, the boys and girls who constitute the West End Avenue "gangs," are about the worst ever to have the children of the family next door arrested for sitting on their own stoop and talking louder than the Major thought proper.

SMALL consumption of ice.
MAXIMUM amount of cold, dry air.
ABSOLUTELY sanitary provision chamber.
SIMPLICITY of operation.
PRESERVATIVE of food.

All the above features are necessary in a satisfactory Refrigerator, and the Alaska has them. We can vouch for that, because we've sold the

ALASKA

for the past fifteen consecutive years and WE KNOW.

CHAS. G. JÜRGENS & SONS
419, 421 EAST BROAD ST.

We have a full sized Morris Chair, in red or green, with woven rattan seats and backs, something strong and substantial, for..... $2.50 WRITE FOR CATALOGUES

JUST RECEIVED
TWO CAR LOADS OF

AUTOMOBILES

ONE CAR OF WHITES
AND ONE CAR OF
ELMORE PATHFINDERS.

TO MAKE ROOM FOR THESE I WILL SELL FOUR GOOD, SECOND-HAND AUTOMOBILES
AT A SACRIFICE.

B. A. BLENNER
Agent for the White, Winton, Elmore,
Oldsmobile and Pope
Automobiles.

Garage, No.